GENEALOGY
OF THE
RUMPH FAMILY OF
SOUTH CAROLINA.

BY A. S. SALLEY, JR.

The Rumphs of South Carolina, and their relatives in other Southern States, trace back to five adult Rumphs, whose names first appear on South Carolina records about 1735. ~~(1735)~~

These were David, Jacob, Abraham, Peter and Catherine Rumph. They were all brothers and sister. These young people, undoubtedly, came over with the Swiss emigrants (from the German cantons) who arrived in Charlestown July 13, 1735,¹ and settled a township fifteen miles long by ~~ten~~^{five} miles wide, that had been laid off on the Edisto river (2), about eighty miles from Charlestown, in 1730. Up to this time it had been known merely as "The Township on the Edisto;" but when settled by these Switzers, was named by Lieutenant ^{Gouverneur} Broughton, Orangeburgh, in honor of the, then, Prince of Orange (William IV) who was the son-in-law of King George II of England.

Note 1—"On Sunday last arrived here CAPT. HUGH PERCY in nine weeks from ROTTERDAM and six from COWES, with 250 SWITZERS on board, who are come to settle a township on the King's land in this Province."—The South Carolina Gazette, July 19, 1735.

Note 2—"About 220 of the Switzers that have paid all their passages are now going up to Edisto to settle a township there. The Government defrays them upon their journey, provides them with provisions for one year, and gives them fifty acres ahead; they are exempt from all charges for ten years."—The South Carolina Gazette, Saturday, July 26, 1735.

It is most likely that the parents of these young people came with them; but if so they must have died soon after, for we do not find their names in contemporary records.

CATHERINE—(1)—RUMPH was married in Mr. John Hearne's house, near the village of Orangeburgh, in Orangeburgh township, on Thursday, September 3, 1741, to James Pendarvis. (3)

Note 3—Rev. John Giessendanner's record, Salley's History of Orangeburgh County, 1704-1782, pp. 96 and 107.

PETER—(1)—RUMPH, "of Horse Savannah, in the Province of South Carolina Cordwainer," "Catherine Knoye, of St. James' Parish, Goose Creek, in the province aforesaid, widow," and "David Rumph, of St. Paul's Parish, in the province aforesaid, planter," made a tripartite agreement, April 4, 1746, arranging a marriage and settlement between the said Peter Rumph and Catherine Knoye, widow." (4)

ABRAHAM—(1)—RUMPH settled in St. George's Parish, Dorchester, at an early date. By his will, dated October 4, 1777, he is known to have had three sons, Abraham, Christian and George. (5) The first of these was brigadier-general of the Fifth Brigade of South Carolina militia, in 1808. Christian's son, Christian, married his cousin, Sarah Rumph, and "died just at the close of the late war, in Georgia, at an advanced age, after expending a fortune in trying to help along the Confederate government." He had but one son, and that son left but one child, George M. Rumph, Esq., a lawyer of St. George, Dorchester County, South Carolina, who died October, 3, 1902.

Note 5—Ibid. Book 1774-78, p. 561.

DAVID—(1)—RUMPH married Mary———. He first settled in St. Paul's Parish, but at an early date removed to St. George's Parish, Dorchester, Charleston District, near the site of the present town of St. George, and became one of the most prominent men in his parish. On April 18, 1767, he was selected by the Commons House of Assembly, to be one of the commissioners for building a "chapel of ease," in the upper part of the parish, "at the north side of Four Holes Swamp, within three miles of the said swamp." (6) He was "several times Inquirer and Collector of taxes for the parish (7), and was one of those selected January 15, 1775, by the First Provincial Congress of South Carolina as the "Committee for Carrying into Execution the Continental Association" for (8) St. George's Parish, Dorchester. He died in 1782 or 1783. (9)
